

1 Adding an RSS Feed to Feedly for Android

Feedly can be configured to use the same feeds as your Google Reader account. As with Google Reader, it is perhaps easier to configure your feeds using your desktop / laptop then synchronise the account with Feedly. This can be simply achieved by logging in using your Google Account.

If you would like to manually edit the content, press the menu button and press “Edit content”.

Then by touching “today” or “latest”, the latest articles will appear from your feeds. You can also press the “SCHURTER” Feed directly to get the newest article, swiping to get the older articles. Touching the title allows you to download the file (in this case a PDF of a certificate)..
